

SUPER!

ARE THEY REAL? Monday 27th June

Today is the day; my birthday and I am about to blow out my candles. I wanted for everything. My wish was to become a superhero, but I knew it wouldn't come true. Later on that day, I had a big surprise, my mum was taking me to meet a famous superhero, at a meet and greet. It was going to be amazing! Excitedly, I ran up to him for an autograph, my heart was racing, as the pen rolled against the paper, I felt a strange tingling on my arms. When he had finished signing my autograph, it seemed to glow, but I thought I was probably just seeing things. Happily, I went home and stared at the autograph but before long, it was my bed time - where had time gone?...

Startled, I woke up; it was the middle of the night and there was thunder and lightning, and once again the autograph was glowing! What was happening? Was this whole day a dream? With that, a lightning-bolt struck our house. Confused, worried, shocked - I tried to go back to sleep.

I woke up feeling different, but it was a good different, I felt sensational, powerful, heroic. Could it be...? I thought to myself - there was only one way to find out. Slowly, I got up out of my bed and made my way towards the mirror.

If this was ~~to~~ true, my life would be a whole new story. If not, it would be a dream far away from reality. As I stared into the mirror, I couldn't believe what I was seeing surprised, I rubbed my eyes and once again looked into the mirror; it was real! I was now a superhero! Excited, I ran down to the kitchen, to tell my mum, but as I ran down the stairs the autograph glowed once again. I wonder why maybe it had something to do with me becoming a superhero.

Finally, I could protect my city from the evil that surrounded it. Fighting crime made me feel special and who knows, some day you could become a superhero. But ~~to~~ only if you believe, believe in superheroes yourself - (yourself and superheroes!).
